supporting the parish

Money is something none of us want to hear spoken about from the pulpit. Not only can it make us feel uncomfortable, it can be unseemly if it becomes the regular item of discussion. Even though it is an unpopular subject, we do have to address it as part of our duty in supporting the work of the Church.

It can feel that sometimes we are nicked and dined to death. There are raffles, festivals, barbecues, bake sales, pizza sales etc., all in the hopes of helping the Church meet its bills. Our two annual fundraisers – the Spring BBQ and the upcoming Turkey Dinner – are so necessary to meet the larger expenses of the parish (our $20,000 insurance premium is the best example). That is why it is important that we all do our share to pitch in and make these events true successes.

We have the obligation to support the church. Many do so weekly with their offering. We have to remind ourselves that true giving does not look for personal profit. In other words, we do not give so as to get something. We give freely, not counting the cost, in building up the Body of Christ, the Church. We simply cannot let a “this for that” mentality rule how charitable we will be. A good reminder that we all sometimes need is that expenses go up each year. Whereas years ago one could buy things for a cheaper rate (gasoline and electricity for examples) the cost of these items has risen substantially. We have to challenge ourselves to increase our giving. A dollar just doesn’t stretch as far as we all need it to in meeting our needs. Yet if that is truly all we can give, then we are truly engaging in sacrificial giving. If however we have a nice home, maintain a comfortable living, drive good vehicles and enjoy hobbies and shopping, then we should risk being more generous than a dollar.

Please give this some thought. With the upcoming festival we are going to need everyone’s help and cooperation. Consider exactly what we can accomplish if we continue to join together and meet our challenges and risk further growth.

knights of columbus meeting

There will be a Knights of Columbus meeting this Thursday at 7:30 in the Heritage Hall. All members are invited to attend.

pro-life thought

A single soul is a whole world in the sight of God. Jesus, Himself, stopped to preach to one woman.
