July 13th,
St. Henry

Today's remarkable saint (973-1024) was Duke of Bavaria and Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire. He was forced to fight one campaign after another against rebellious vassals, but occupied himself in reforming the Church, selecting able bishops, leading a personal quasi-monastic life. He persuaded the Pope to authorize the Creed on Sundays and major feasts Henry built the Cathedral of Bamberg in Germany-where his saintly wife Cunegunda lies buried. He was canonized a saint in 1146.

July 14th,
St. Camillus de Lellis,
Priest

Camillus (1550-1614), son of a soldier of the Kingdom of Naples, was 6'6" tall and exceptionally strong. He became a soldier, led a life without restraints-and at age 25 came with broken body to the Incurables Hospital in Rome. There Camillus was converted to Christ, in penance began serving the sick (though still incurably ill himself), gathered others to this work, and started the Company of Servants of the Sick-the Hospitallers or Camillians. He became a priest and to the end of life, a sick giant among the sick, lived out the ideal of Christian charity. He was canonized a saint in 1746.

*Turn to the Lord in your need,
and you will live.*

Pro-Life Corner:

July 14th - For us, murder is once for all forbidden...It makes no difference whether one takes away the life once born, or destroys it as it comes to birth...the fruit is always present in the seed.
