July 11th,
St. Benedict,
Abbot

Today's saint has been truly a blessing-for his life and for his innumerable Benedictine sons and daughters. He founded a monastic tradition based on his "Monastic Rule." The Benedictine tradition has served both Church and civilization with distinction. Born in central Italy in 460, he studied at Rome, before starting a hermit's life at Suiaco. Benedict founded the celebrated monastery at Cassino, and because of his Rule became the Patriarch of monasticism in Europe. He died on March 21, around 547.
